12 scams to avoid in Barcelona

Barcelona is safe for violent crime, but pickpockets work the tourist areas. Know these tricks and you are no longer a target.

1 · The door squeeze
A small group crowds you at the metro door (lines L1, L3, L5). One takes your phone. Stand back, bag in front.

2 · The escalator grab
Phone lifted from a back pocket on station escalators. Front zipped pocket only.

3 · The friendly question
Someone asks for directions with a map held over your phone or bag. Step back, keep a hand on your things.

4 · The stain
Sauce or “bird mess” on your clothes, a stranger helps clean it, a partner empties your pocket. Say no thanks, walk away.

5 · The petition
A clipboard pushed against you to sign. Under it, a hand in your bag. Don’t stop.

6 · The football trick
A stranger plays with a ball around your legs. It’s a way to get close. Move on.

7 · The fake police officer
Asks to check your wallet or passport. Real police don’t look inside your wallet. Offer to go to a police station.

8 · The table phone
A flyer or menu is placed over your phone on a café table and lifted with it. Nothing on the table.

9 · The chair-back bag
Bags hung on chairs disappear on terraces. Bag between your feet, strap around your leg.

10 · The beach towel
Phones taken from towels while you swim at Barceloneta. Take turns, or leave valuables at the hotel.

11 · The airport taxi tout
Someone offers a taxi inside the terminal. Use only the official rank outside, or the Aerobús.

12 · The rupee offer
A card machine offers to charge you in rupees. The rate is worse. Always choose to pay in euros.
